PROFILE

Soren is a dynamic, collaborative project manager specializing in project planning and controls frameworks in complex stakeholder environments.

Soren has developed the full project controls planning suite for projects, programs and portfolios from the very small to multibillion-dollar, multi-year endeavours. He has designed, implemented, reviewed or improved project planning and controls frameworks for over a dozen organisations. This has included frameworks for scope decomposition, scheduling, estimation, risk management, change control, and “source of truth” reporting including Earned Value Management (EVM) and data visualization.

Soren has 15 years’ experience above and below the line, 5 of these years spent on bid consultancy including complex Australian Government and Defence (ASDEFCON bids).

ADDITIONAL WORK EXPERIENCE

In addition to my bid work, I developed and implemented the program planning and controls framework for the $3 billion Special Operations Modernization Program. Later, I introduced Scrum to enhance project agility and incorporated Lean Six Sigma to drive continuous improvement within the program.

Additionally, I have supported over a dozen organizations in developing or refining their project planning and controls frameworks, resulting in more efficient cycle times within PMO processes, improved engagement from project teams and executives, and higher-quality project data and deliverables.

As the volunteer president of a local not-for-profit Village Zero Sandringham, I lead a passionate group of volunteers in Bayside, working on locally based initiatives to reduce carbon emissions, waste, support youth and marginalise groups in the area, and regenerate the town.

MOBILITY AND FLEXIBILITY

I am equipped to handle a wide range of industry tenders, regardless of location, and am happy to travel as needed. With extensive professional experience, I excel at facilitating stakeholder engagement and managing customer interfaces to support proposal execution effectively. My flexible and adaptive mindset ensures I can navigate complex requirements and contribute to successful project outcomes.
